Learning and Teaching Methods

The theoretical and practical concepts of Marketing have evolved over the last decades. This way, it is important to analyse the stages of marketing from its origins to the present. It then becomes essential to understand how the market is structured and identify basic elements to perform a market study. Since the consumer is one of the most important corners of the market, we will identify variables that influence the behaviour of consumers. It should also be noted that the policies

The syllabus of the course aims to develop the main issues of entrepreneurship, the different theories of entrepreneurship, entities that support entrepreneurship in Portugal, the process of environmental analysis of the business, as well as more practical aspects, such as the elements of the plan business and its format and presentation. The program is in line with the main objective of this course: contribute to the stimulation and acquisition of skills for implementation and evaluation of an entrepreneurial business.

To achieve the proposed objectives, the marketing program is structured into four major chapters in an evolution of learning from the general to the particular, or from the more strategic to the operational component, articulated simultaneously with the entrepreneurship program, which unfolds into six large chapters, until allowing students to experience carrying out the business plan.

Assessment Methods

The evaluation will be continuous and consists of:

- Written Test: 30%;
- Group work / Business plan: 50%;
- Oral Presentation Group Work - Pitch: 20%;

1. Individual test, divided into two parts, one relating to the Marketing component and the other to the Entrepreneurship component, to be carried out on a date to be proposed to the course director, worth 30%;
2. Business plan (written work) carried out in group: 50%. The business plan will be carried out during the classes and will be delivered at the end of the semester on a date to be defined.
3. Oral presentation (with individual evaluation) of the business plan (pitch): 20%. The oral presentation will take place in the last classes of the semester, on a date to be defined.

The tests will have a minimum score of 8,5 values.

Exam evaluation:

At the time of exams, the assessment will be made by exam, worth 100%.

Note: ERASMUS students may have a different assessment, to be agreed with the teachers in the first class.
