Learning and Teaching Methods

The contents inherent to each of the different topics of the curricular unit program meet the defined objectives, whose implementation is in line with the teaching-learning methodologies.

Assessment Methods

DAY CLASS (items of assessment): Items of assessment:

1. Frequency and participation - weighting factor of 10%. The participation of students in the Knowledge Consolidation Classes (ACC) will be evaluated, where group exercises will be carried out. The note of presence and participation remains valid for all seasons of the exam to which the student is subject, until it is approved, within the same school year.

2. Written work, group - weighting factor of 40% in the final grade. The note of the work remains valid for all times of examination to which the student is subjected, until it is approved, within the same school year. The weighting shall be apportioned equally between the mandatory submission and the consideration of the written report.

3. Two on-site tests- weighting factor 50% (25% each) on the final grade, where a minimum score of 8 is required on the scale from zero to twenty; Students who fail the minimum grade (8) will be deemed to fail, irrespective of the grade obtained in the other elements of the assessment, and shall be subject to the appeal examination.

NOTE for GROUPS: The groups will be formed by the teacher and will be maintained throughout the semester for all the activities identified by the group. Students should express their willingness to join a group by the path defined by the teacher.

CLASS DISTANCE LEARNING (elements of evaluation):

1. Attendance and participation - weighting factor of 10%. The participation of students in the knowledge consolidation classes (Accs) will be evaluated, where group exercises will be carried out. The attendance and participation note remains valid for all exam seasons to which the student is subjected, until it is approved, within the same school year.

2. Written work, group - a weighting factor of 40% in the final grade. The note of the work remains valid for all times of examination to which the student is subjected, until it is approved, within the same school year.

3. Final test - 50% weighting factor on the final note, where a minimum score of 8 on the scale from zero to twenty is required. Students who do not score a minimum (8) will be considered to have failed, regardless of the grade obtained in the other evaluation elements, and will be submitted to the appeal exam.
